Prevent Trillions of Flies By Killing One Right Now

The fly is here. If allowed to remain it will mul-

It is the deadliest enemy to health. it should be killed TODAY. Either man must kill the fly. or the fly will kill man. Entomologists assert that too many deaths are charged to acidental contagion. They say that the real cause is human ignorance in permitting the fly to disease the individual. Dr. Arthur L. Murray, of the District Health Department, says the American eagle is America's national bird, but the house fly is the international insect. Dr. Murray has outlined the following preventive and suppressive measures to aid in the extermination of the fly:

Committee of 100 Reports Many Responses to Appeals for Help From States.

More than 250,000 persons throughout the United States, according to the estimates of Henry B. F. Macfarland, chairman of the executive committee of the Committee of 100, either already have been or are about to be reached by the appeals of the committee in its compaign for nation-wide support for the movement to maintain the present fiscal relations between the District and he Federal Government.

So far, the committee has confined, its activities to enlisting those national organizations having headquarters in Washington to engage in the distribution of its reports presenting arguments in defense of the District. Just now, however it is approaching more than scope of this canvass to include 600 such organizations.

Among these national bodies are several of the largest of the patriotic societies, and civic associations. Consequently, it is expected that within a few weeks the propaganda setting forth the needs of the National Capital will be called to the attention of millions of the country's citizens.

The effect of the campaign is already being reflected through the interest which visitors to Waashington from distant points are evincing in the city. In which visitors to Wasshington from distant points are evincing in the city. In practically every instance these strangers express sympathy with the committee of one hundred in its endeavor.

Mr. Macfariand is now out of Washington, but from the committee's head-quarters, from the headquarters of the American Civic Association, and the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade the committee's literature is being dispatched to all parts of the country.
